Support to the establishment of an ethical and methodological framework for the evaluation of non-pharmacological Interventions

On behalf of the National Clinical Research Infrastructure “F-CRIN”, I want to express our high interest and support for the initiative of the NPIS to develop a methodological and ethical framework for the evaluation of the performance and security of the non-pharmacological interventions.

Those interventions are increasing nowadays in different fields and types. They constitute now a part of health in its own right and, as such, they have to follow a scientific process of evaluation.

The Coordinator,

Pr Olivier RASCOL
